

McWeadon
Enabling Learning Without Boundaries

Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to McWeadon Education. Thank you for your interest in teaching a 4-week long workshop/course for us. Please note that our courses are created and taught by seasoned professionals with extensive online teaching experience. They are personally committed to ensuring the quality and credibility of their students' learning experiences. Faculty members who create the courses they teach retain the intellectual property rights to their course content.

Faculty members who design and develop their own courses receive about 53% of the total revenues received for their courses. McWeadon Author/Facilitator Distance Education Agreement can be downloaded.

Course facilitators, who lead courses designed and developed by senior faculty members, receive 47 percent of the total revenues, with 5 percent going to the original course designer/developer.

If you have knowledge to share on a specific topic and a passion to teach online, we invite you to propose one or more 4 week workshops/courses.

Please send your proposal to us by completing required information in the New Course Proposal Form.

Course authors will receive design assistance from McWeadon's Instructional Design Coordinator.

Warm regards,

Badrul Khan, Ph.D.
